Addiction Treatment Services Provider Certification

- DMHA has the responsibility to certify addiction treatment programs under Indiana Code IC 12-23-1-6-5 and Indiana Administrative Code 440 IAC 4.4-2-1.
- Every provider of addiction treatment services in Indiana must have either regular certification or outpatient certification issued by the Division to provide addiction treatment services.

Outpatient vs Regular Certification

- Outpatient Certification
 - Currently available for organizations with less than 11 addiction treatment staff
 - Does not require accreditation
 - Effective for two years
- Regular Certification
 - Currently required for organizations with more than 10 addiction treatment staff
 - Does require accreditation
 - Expiration dates are based off accreditation expiration dates with an additional 90 days
- In the future, accreditation will be required based on the addiction treatment services offered.

ASAM Standards

- ASAM stands for American Society of Addiction Medicine, <https://www.asam.org/resources/the-asam-criteria>.
- ASAM provides standards for the ASAM Levels of Care, describing their support systems, therapies and staffing.
- It also has criteria for determining level of care placement.

Recovery Residences

- DMHA took over the certification process and oversight in July 2021 from Indiana Affiliation of Recovery Residences (INARR)
- There are currently 80 providers with 152 certified settings and approximately 2,000 beds.
- There are four different levels of recovery residences as defined by National Association of Recovery Residences (NARR)

Recovery Residence Levels

- DMHA certifies levels 2, 3, and 4
- Level 2 - Monitored setting with a house manager or senior resident. Residents and manager create house rules, implement peer run groups and house meetings and encourage involvement in self help and/or treatment services.
- Level 3 - Supervised setting with an organizational hierarchy and administrative oversight. Life skills development is emphasized with clinical services provided by an outside program.
- Level 4 - Service provider setting with clinical and administrative supervision and organizational hierarchy. Life skill development is heavily focused on, and clinical services and programming are provided in the setting.

Oxford House

- The Oxford House Model: Principles are based on replication and guidelines for running single-family homes for recovering alcoholics and substance abusers. In its simplest form, an Oxford House is a democratically run, self-supporting, and drug-free home.
- Oxford House operates in Indiana as its own entity and is not a part of DMHA.
- Level 1 recovery residences are not certified by DMHA and are essentially seen as an Oxford House, so providers are encouraged to work with Oxford House to be recognized as an Oxford House.
- Oxford House information can be found at:
